All about Whittlesford - Past, Present & Future

As shown elsewhere in this issue SUNDAY 4 FEBRUARY is the date of the Newcomers Tea Party when the two village churches invite those recently arrived here (or who missed the similar event last year) to come along to meet each other and the representatives of all the main clubs and activities Whittlesford has to offer.

This year, Whit Soc is delighted to add to the welcome and help people know more about where they've come to settle, by offering a special newcomers' tour of the village by Tractor Trailer. This will be able to include wider areas of archaeological and ecological interest than a walk can, as well as highlighting village landmarks and historic buildings - and the public footpaths for exploring later.

Date & details will be confirmed later but find out more and sign up your interest on 4 Feb at the Whittlesford Society stand and display of photos and publications! Places on the straw bales under the trailer's canopy are limited but Whit Soc plan several events & activities in coming months for all-comers, including an informal village walk to plan logistics for a new Village Trail; reorganising the excellent guide material we already have + fascinating new details from latest projects; and getting together a group to take forward ideas for an illustrated village map and 'interpretation boards', using the exceptional talents already so evident locally.

The next issue of our journal 'Whither Whittlesford', due out later this month, will also contain details of other coming events such as the Archaeology Weekend; a nostalgic revisiting of the Old School along with the exciting new roles there; & special efforts to make fuller use of IWM Duxford and to visit /support the Museum of Cambridge.

To be kept informed about any of these please send contact details to 832453 noting any key interests /skills to share.
